

viii Introduction

Finally, we emphasize that while this volume does provide significant evidence of the book's truth, gaining a witness that the Book of Mormon is true is an individual and lifelong process. As Moroni has promised, those who seek their own confirmation of the Book of Mormon will receive a personal answer from the Lord (see Moroni 10:4). The Book of Mormon supports biblical testimonies of Christ and provides additional messages of his divine sonship. We encourage all readers of this volume to build on their current testimonies of the Book of Mormon by learning of its incredible history and origins. We hope this volume will be a valuable supplement to your Book of Mormon study and provide an additional source of the book's light and truth. As editors of this volume, we add our personal testimony that the Book of Mormon is true. It is an ancient record brought forth in our day, translated by the gift and power of God through Joseph Smith, the Lord's prophet.

Acknowledgments

We extend our sincere appreciation to all those who have contributed to this year's Sperry Symposium in every stage of its production and presentation. In addition to those already recognized herein, we would like to thank Patty Smith and the support staff of Religious Education and the blind reviewers who carefully vetted each submission and made helpful suggestions for all of the papers. In addition, we are grateful to the staff of BYU's Religious Studies Center: Thomas Wayment, Devan Jensen, Brent R. Nordgren, Joany O. Pinegar, Alison Brimley, Shanna Clayton, Rachel Gessel, Hadley Griggs, Rebecca Hamson, and Leah Welker, who have contributed significant time and effort in reviewing, editing, and revising the papers, enhancing the book's professional and scholarly value. Additionally, we would like to thank Elder Merrill J. Bateman, Emeritus Seventy, for presenting his article "The Coming Forth of Plain and Precious Truths" at the symposium and allowing us to publish it herein.
