

STUDIA ANTIQUA CALL FOR PAPERS

Hello Students of the Ancient Near East!

We are excited to announce the Call for Papers for the Spring 2019 issue of Studia Antiqua. Since there is not a theme for this upcoming journal, we invite submissions covering a wide range of topics covering the ancient Near East up through the Byzantine period, including Greek and Roman studies. We hope to publish between seven to ten papers in the 2019 volume.

This year we will only accept abstracts that are accompanied with a complete paper. In case of special circumstances, or if you have further questions, please contact us.

We will be accepting submissions beginning now through Friday, January 18, 2019. This is a hard deadline, so please don't delay! Authors whose submissions are accepted for publication in the journal will be notified by Studia Antiqua before the end of February 2019. Please note that papers initially accepted may require additional revision prior to publication.

If you are interested in submitting your paper, please contact us at studia_antiqua@byu.edu. Submission guidelines can be found at <https://rsc.byu.edu/studia-antiqua>.

We look forward to your submissions!

Sam Mitchell
Editor-in-Chief, Studia Antiqua

Dr. Lincoln Blumell
SANE Faculty Advisor for Studia Antiqua